BIOGRAPHY

Chun Chun Garbit is partner of DDH-Partners. Founded in 2005, DDH-Partners is a corporate finance advisory firm based in the south of France. From inception, DDH-Partners has been providing strategic planning and financial engineering expertise in raising capital, company acquisition and international partnership services for entrepreneurs, fund managers and C level executives.

Since 2006, Chun Chun has been actively involved in innovative technology-based entrepreneurship funding projects within a wide range of sectors, such as medical device, biotechnology, optic photonic, air purification, open source software or digital social network platform. She also extends DDH-Partners' consultancy coverage to Asia-Pacific by leading cross border partnership or acquisition-oriented consulting projects for medium sized and public quoted companies.

In addition of strategic and financial consulting activities, she is also an entrepreneur and instructor. She was founding partner and board member of Carewave Shielding Technologies (2007-2014), a company specialized in designing large surface focused electromagnetic interference shielding solutions. As to teaching assignments, she has been instructor in financial and business management institutions for master degree students in the South of France since 2008. Her lectures cover strategic diagnosis, mergers & acquisitions, venture capital investment and innovation financing related topics.
